There is a point in the geography of the United States that it is not generally known, and that is Driftwood Point. Driftwood Point is part of a little piece of land owned by these United States that lies peculiarly situated. This piece of land is the only portion of the scountry, except Alaska, that is north of the forty-ninth parallel. It is impossible to reach it by land without going through British territory. It is part of Pembina County, Minnand without going through British territory. REAR ADMIRAL G. B. BALCH has assumed command of the naval forces on the Pacific station. The bulletin issued at 7 o'clock last even-ing showed that the President had had a little more fever yesterday afternoon, which THE WACHUSETTS sailed from Vallejo, Cal., on the 14th inst., on her voyage to Sitka to relieve the Jamestown. Sitks to relieve the Jamestown.

The total receipts from internal revenue for the year ending June 30, 1881, according to the adjusted figures just completed, were $135,054,339.19.

Patents for District inventors were issued to-day as follows: Alexander G. Bell, telephone circuit; Charles G. White, turn-table.

There were $29 patents and designs issued by the Patent Office for the week ending to-day, the largest number ever before issued in one week.

The Physicians Not Uneasy.

It is in view of this recurrence of febrile symptoms that the physicians have not issued any bulletin officially declaring that the President would recover, though they have not declined to express their individual opinions to that effect.

The Physicians Not Uneasy. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Upton, who went to London in connection with the continued five per cents., is expected to return by the last of the

The Physicians Not Uneasy. It is proper, therefore, to say, by way of comment upon last night's official bulletin, It is proper, therefore, to say, by way of comment upon last night's official bulletin, that the facts therein stated give no uneasiness to the attending surgeons. There is a slight increase in the fever, but it arises from known causes, and is undoubtedly transient in its character. The reasons for it are as follows: The President during the past three days, and more especially yesterday, has taken a largely increased quantity of solid food. His stomach is still sensitive and manifests its sensitiveness when in any way overtaxed by symptoms of disturbance. Such was the case yesterday, and this gastric trouble is thought to have been largely instrumental in aggravating febrile symptoms. Then the President yesterday afternoon became overwearied in the hands of a barber. He expressed a desire to have his beard and hair trimmed and his head rubbed, and at his request a barber was summoned. The latter spent some time in rubbing him, and although the immediate effects were pleasurable, the results were overfatigue and increased feverishness. Aside, however, from the transient rise in pulse and temperature the President's symptoms continue to be favorable. continue to be favorable.

The Wound Healing Satisfactorily. Dr. Bliss, in answer to a question about the President's wound, says: "The process of suppuration is going on satisfactorily, and the track of the ball is slowly being cleared by the discharge. In dressing the wound last night the flexible drainage tube, withlast night the flexible drainage tube, without the exertion of the least force, dropped in to a depth of 5j inches, showing that the wound is clear and open to that distance.
It has been said by persons who have never seen the President since his injury that the bullet probably did not enter the great cavity of the body at all. Our experience with the drainage tube last night confirms our previously expressed independs that the Postmaster-General James has two civil service reform plans. One is to make all appointments after a strict competitive examination; the other is to adopt a similar system as that under which cadets are admitted to West Point and the Naval Academy, that is, to let the President and members of Congress select the candidates for appointment, and who would be required to pass a thorough examination. our previously expressed judgment that the ball did enter the abdominal cavity and pierced the liver. I believe that it passed through that organ and is lodged in the anterior wall of the abdomen." In conclu-Mr. J. C. How the President Passed the Night.
The President had a good rest last night. He went to sleep at 9:15 o'clock and slept till 10:40 o'clock when he asked for a glass of water and immediately fell asleep again and slept till 2:05 o'clock this morning. He was then given a little neurishment in the form of milk and rum, falling asleep almost at once and sleeping soundly till 5 o'clock when he awoke very much refreshed and told Mr. Crump, who had been at his bedside all night, that he had had the best night's sleep this season.

The Patient will Joke.

The President continues bright and cheeriful and will have his little joke. Mrs. Garfield sat by his side this morning, and, in compliance with his request, read several

The President continues doing very well and the physicians are not at all alarmed at the febrile rise of yesterday afternoon, which is something they expect in the natural course of the sickness. The President's breakfast was lighter this morning than yesterday, as it was feared that the heavy med of the seasons. meal of yesterday was one of the causes of the increase of fever.

and furnished a detail of men to assist in he work.t

The whole was completed before daylight on Saturday, and the Jennings apparatus was forcing a strong current of cold air directly up the fine to the President's room. Mr. Jennings arrived that day and made some improvements in the general plan, which were quite successful, and the following day Dr. Bliss sent down word not to send up so much cold air. About this time it is stated that certain officers of the Government began to take an interest in the apparatus with a view of shifting the credit to themselves. They claimed that it was important to have a duplicate apparatus, and finally obtained consent to make it. In doing so, while they followed the general principles of the Jennings machine, they made it enough different to claim it as their own, and then endeavored to supplant Mr. Jennings entirely. Their

DEVOURED BY FIRE.

Bestructen at Syracuse, N. Y.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 19.—The most destructive fire that has ever visited this city is now raging here. Almost the entire square which was the site of the famous Wieting Opera House has been destroyed, and the fire is not yet spent although it is hoped that the firemen have it so fairly under their control that they can prevent a further spread. The opera house is in ruins. Telegraphic communication is almost entirely cut off for the present.

Owing to the pleasant weather the cooling apparatus erected at the White House are considered at the cooling bis classifor instant use. As there seems to be a general misunderstanding about this apparatus it might be well to give the facts in the case. During the week following the shooting, owing to the President's critical condition and the extreme hot weather, apprehension existed in medical minds concerning his safety and recovery, and efforts were promptly made to secure some method of cooling bis chamber. No method or plan was known which were offered from all sections of the country, while some of our local authorities, assisted by Government officers, endeavored to commit the country, while some of our local authorities, and experiments coat the Government in the neighborhood of $12,000. Mr. R. S. Jennings, of Baltimore, who was then in Boston, offered by the President's physicians, who, after carefully examining into it, thought it was what they wanted, and on conference with Private Secretary Brown manist the neighborhood of $12,000. Mr. R. S. Jennings' co-operator, Mr. Wm. H. Horner, and the neighborhood of $12,000. Mr. R. S. Jennings' openings was requested to come on an at once with his apparatus and once with his apparatus and the next day placed in position at the White House. Private Secretary Brown manists the machine, was obtained from the sortices for the benefit of the President. A full sured.
